Dylan Scott Pierce is a watercolor artist and instructor known for luminous portraits, wildlife, and expressive figurative work. Encouraged to pursue art from an early age, he began exhibiting as a young artist and later studied for ten years with artist Chris diDomizio in Atlanta.

Dylan's work has been shaped by extensive travel, particularly his experiences in Africa, where encounters with people, wildlife, and landscape became an important source of inspiration. His paintings have been featured in numerous exhibitions and publications, including International Artist, Watercolor Artist and Wildlife Art.

Today, Dylan lives and works in Colorado, where he continues to paint and teach watercolor through Illuminating Watercolor.
